COVID-19 Test results now available Online

The Government of Newfoundland and Labrador has launched a new site that allows individuals to securely check their COVID-19 results online. It can be accessed from the provincial government's main COVID-19 web page at www.gov.nl.ca/covid-19.

Individuals will need their name, birth date, MCP and MPC expiry date to get their results. This tool will only indicate if test results are negative, or if they are not ready yet.

Positive COVID-19 results will be confirmed via telephone by a public health official.
